A New Home For Wings

We are excited to announce that we are in escrow on a 10-acre property in east Stevensville for our new home. The property has electric, water and septic already on site. It has an unfinished building and some fencing. We will need to install additional fencing ASAP before we can move any horses over. We hope to have access April 1st which will give us 30 days to get everything moved.

We are still fundraising to improve the property, including building a barn and other outbuildings that we will need. You can donate directly to our capital fund for these projects by using the QR code at right or visiting www.gofundme.com/ahomeforwings.

If you have donated to Wings and need a donation receipt, please email us at thewingsprograms@gmail.com with your name, address and donation amount.

Adoption News

Mama was recently adopted by our new friends Kathryn and Sam, who were looking for a calm horse they could just love on and give a good life. Mama fit the bill perfectly and will now enjoy daily attention and a beautiful property to roam around on.

She will now be known as Emma, which is a great name for this shy and gentle mare. We feel she will thrive with the daily attention and connection that Kathryn and Sam will give her.

As always, it's hard to say goodbye to one of our rescues, but this is what we are here for.

Adoption Update

We always love getting updates from our adopters. Nate was a BLM donkey that Wings had for several years as we worked to socialize him and get him comfortable with being handled. Board member Terri Dennis took him home to give him more focused lessons.

A couple came to our booth at Mule Days a couple of years ago looking for a companion for their donkey. When they came to visit Nate, the woman started petting him and he responded by grabbing her jacket zipper and pulling it up and down - an instant connection from a donkey who previously didn't like to be touched!

Terri took Nate to his new home a few days later and the new owners recently sent the picture at left of Nate in the pasture with his donkey friend. They said it feels like he has always been a part of their little herd. We are so happy to get this update on Nate and know that he's living his best life!
